Andre Jamal Tillman, (Plaintiff), proceeding pro se, brings this action pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1983.<sup>1</sup> Plaintiff is a detainee at the Lexington County Detention Center (LCDC), and files this action in forma pauperis under 28 U.S.C. § 1915. The complaint should be dismissed for failure to state a claim upon which relief may be granted.

Pro Se and In Forma Pauperis Review

Under established local procedure in this judicial district, a careful review has been made of the pro se complaint pursuant to the procedural provisions of 28 U.S.C. § 1915; 28 U.S.C. § 1915A; and the Prison Litigation Reform Act, Pub. L. No. 104-134, 110 Stat. 1321 (1996). This review has been conducted in light of the following precedents: Denton v. Hernandez, 504 U.S. 25 (1992); Neitzke v. Williams, 490 U.S. 319, 324-25 (1989); Haines v. Kerner, 404 U.S. 519 (1972); Nasim v. Warden, Md. House of Corr., 64 F.3d 951 (4th Cir. 1995); and Todd v. Baskerville, 712 F.2d 70 (4th Cir. 1983).

<sup>1</sup> Pursuant to the provisions of 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1)(B), and Local Rule 73.02(B)(2)(d), D.S.C., the undersigned is authorized to review such complaints for relief and submit findings and recommendations to the District Court.

This complaint has been filed pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915, which permits an indigent litigant to commence an action in federal court without prepaying the administrative costs of proceeding with the lawsuit. To protect against possible abuses of this privilege, the statute allows a district court to dismiss the case upon a finding that the action “fails to state a claim on which relief may be granted” or is “frivolous or malicious.” 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2)(B)(i), (ii). A finding of frivolity can be made where the complaint “lacks an arguable basis either in law or in fact.” Denton v. Hernandez, 504 U.S. at 31. A claim based on a meritless legal theory may be dismissed sua sponte under 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2)(B). See Neitzke v. Williams, 490 U.S. 319 (1989); Allison v. Kyle, 66 F.3d 71 (5th Cir. 1995).

This Court is required to liberally construe pro se documents, Erickson v. Pardus, 551 U.S. 89 (2007); Estelle v. Gamble, 429 U.S. 97 (1976), holding them to a less stringent standard than those drafted by attorneys, Hughes v. Rowe, 449 U.S. 9 (1980). Even under this less stringent standard, however, the pro se complaint is subject to summary dismissal. The mandated liberal construction afforded to pro se pleadings means that if a court can reasonably read the pleadings to state a valid claim on which a plaintiff could prevail, it should do so. However, the requirement of liberal construction does not mean that a court can ignore a clear failure in the pleading to allege facts which set forth a claim currently cognizable in a federal district court. Weller v. Dep’t of Soc. Servs., 901 F.2d 387 (4th Cir. 1990).

Background

Plaintiff states that, on February 23, 2009, several food trays were spilled on the staircase of “F-pod at the Lexington County Jail.” Defendant Ward, an officer on duty, was allegedly responsible for having “dorm runarounds” clean up any “mess left after the meal was served.” Plaintiff states the floor was not properly cleaned and Plaintiff slipped and fell on the stairs as he went to the recreation area. Plaintiff injured his back as a result of the accident and has received medical attention for his injury. Plaintiff claims he “was injured at the negligence of the officer.” Plaintiff seeks monetary damages.

Discussion

Plaintiff’s claim is brought pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1983.<sup>2</sup> To state a claim under §1983, a plaintiff must allege two essential elements: (1) that a right secured by the Constitution or laws of the United States was violated, and (2) that the alleged violation was committed by a person acting under the color of state law. West v. Atkins, 487 U.S. 42, 48 (1988). Plaintiff claims that he was injured as a result of Defendant Ward’s negligence. However, the law is well settled that negligence, in general, is not actionable under 42 U.S.C. § 1983. See Daniels v. Williams, 474 U.S. 327, 328-336 & n. 3 (1986); Davidson v. Cannon, 474 U.S. 344, 345-348 (1986); Pink v. Lester, 52 F.3d 73 (4th Cir. 1995)(Daniels bars an action under § 1983 for negligent conduct); Ruefly v. Landon, 825 F.2d 792, 793-794 (4th Cir. 1987). As negligence is not a constitutional violation, Plaintiff’s allegations fail to state a cognizable claim under § 1983.

Liberal construed, Plaintiff may also be attempting to state a claim of deliberate indifference to health and/or safety. Deliberate indifference is a very high standard, which requires more than a showing of mere negligence. See Estelle v. Gamble, 429 U.S. 97, 105-106 (1976). Deliberate indifference also requires “more than ordinary lack of due care for the prisoner’s interests or safety.” Whitley v. Albers, 475 U.S. 312, 319 (1986). See also Farmer v. Brennan, 511 U.S. 825, 835-836

<sup>2</sup> To the extent that Plaintiff is a pretrial detainee, his claims are governed by the Fourteenth Amendment, not the Eighth Amendment. See Belcher v. Oliver, 898 F.2d 32, 34 (4th Cir. 1990).

(1994). In Grayson v. Peed, the Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals stated, “the Constitution is designed to deal with deprivations of rights, not errors in judgment, even though such errors may have unfortunate consequences.” Grayson v. Peed, 195 F.3d 692, 695-696 (4th Cir. 1999). Plaintiff’s complaint fails to allege facts giving rise to the level of deliberate indifference to Plaintiff’s health or safety. Therefore, the complaint in this case should be dismissed for failure to state a claim upon which relief may be granted. 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2)(B)(ii).

Recommendation

Accordingly, it is recommended that the District Court dismiss the complaint in the above-captioned case without prejudice and without issuance of service of process. See Denton v. Hernandez, 504 U.S. at 31; Neitzke v. Williams, 490 U.S. at 324-25; Todd v. Baskerville 712 F.2d at 74. Plaintiff’s attention is directed to the important notice on the next page.
